managing director

Mr. Ajay Gupta, is one of the Managing Directors of Sanjivani herbalss. He conducted many Ayurvedic seminars as an integral part of his life. His thoughtful nature makes patients healthy & happy. He is a graduate and Ayurveda professional serving in Ayurveda for 3 decades and his journey is all along with transformation from the traditional way of ayurveda to modern ayurveda in India. Being a second-generation in ayurveda his willingness is to treat people physically & psychologically. He has good knowledge of preparing ayurvedic medicines. He believes that research is the key to discovering nature's secrets. AYURVEDA besides stressing on healthy lifestyle and dietary guidelines also emphasizes the use of medicine from nature's sources. Earlier, Ayurvedic medicines were considered to be mild in nature and that usually takes alot of time to cure the remedies. The truth was far off from this general belief and the fact remained that in case the Indigenous ayurveda Products were rightly identified, processed & prescribed specifically in the right dosage, they could not only do wonders but cured the diseases on the basis of identifying root causes effectively.

Quality and safety are the essential aspects of any product. The drug which is going to be administered into the human body, should be standard and should not produce any kind of untoward effects after its administration. Ancient seers of India too repeatedly stressed these qualities in their respective classics. The long history of their successful usage in different pathological manifestations is the ultimate proof of their safe, efficacious, nontoxic beneficial effects. As, such traditional practices have a greater impact on global healthcare, are comparatively safe, people have faith in them, and their industrial production is environment friendly; WHO encourages, recommends and promotes traditional remedies. Classical texts of Ayurveda reveal that the seers of ancient India were familiar with the concepts of quality, toxicity, safety, and efficacy aspects of the drugs.

Sanjivani Herbalss's focus is to follow all measures of quality control parameters at most priority. Our expert team of professionals keep an eye continuously on each and every step of production and procurement of raw materials. We are fully equipped with the latest technology and based on the latest tools for advanced testing of every stage of production from raw material to finished goods as a routine process.
